

Kate Gueorguieva has dedicated her life to empowering others, helping them to reach their true potential, whether individually or on a corporate level. She does this by turning obstacles into opportunities using practical steps, grit, and perseverance.

She is unconventional and authentic. Kate teaches through her experiences but has also been trained at some of the best schools, including the University of London Business School, Yale, and the University of Pennsylvania. She is strong and leads by example, expecting clients to invest in themselves and work as hard as she does for their success.

It's not unusual for people to search for years, trying one program after another or a different coach every year, until they either give up, or hear about Kate from a friend or colleague who has worked with her and discovered that success isn't so elusive after all.

Those who choose to trust her are rewarded with clarity of purpose, a pathway to move forward, and work-life balance. Success, which is everyone's goal, yet is different for each of us, demands continuous upskilling and reskilling, but also finds its roots in your upbringing, environment, and ability to find balance.

It is through Kate's unique programs and with her guidance that transformation happens. QUEST is her program that uses five-step process to remove blockages and propel you toward success, while her other program, EBIT, is a business solution incubator that is transformational, bringing rapid and lasting solutions.

Kate utilizes RTT, rapid transformational therapy, as a part of both programs. This is a form of hypnotherapy where you stay in complete control as it allows you to reach back through your past to acknowledge and clear what keeps you from creating the life or business you were meant for.

There is nothing mystical about it. Kate is grounded, energetic, reliable, and will help you eliminate the scarcity mentality. She helps her business clients pursue out-of-the-box solutions, taking complex problems and breaking them down into manageable pieces.

There is a passion and purpose driving Kate to share the pearls of wisdom and formulas for success, outlining a clear picture for the companies to generate sustainable growth while being a part of the conscious companies' movement.

Kate Gueorguieva is an established and sought-after speaker, known for her captivating but no-nonsense, practical, and approachable manner of speaking. She has dedicated herself to the empowerment of others and has found that sharing her wealth of knowledge from the stage allows her to reach more people in a personally fulfilling way.
